From Our View

Bridgewater Raynham Regional High School
The beginning of high school in the fall of 1998 brought about seemingly scary changes. As junior high students, we all had different images of what high school would be. Is there really a pool on the 3rd floor? Will the seniors really stuff us in those little lockers? Once we arrived, however, our separate views merged into one. We stopped looking at B-R as being "their" school and started seeing at this enormous school as our's. We could have been very pessimistic as we awoke before the crack of dawn in order to make it to school on time, or as we sat in the auditorium, scared to death by the intimidating speeches. However, we bravely pushed those thoughts out of our heads and stuck with the classic B-R motto of "expect the best." The past four years have exceeded our expectations. Now as our high school years come to a close, we will look back and always remember exactly what B-R was like...from our view.
1. Lynda Shaw and Megan Tangaro stop working on the yearbook to pose for a picture.
2. Kara Silva decorates the senior bulletin board.
3. Amber Camara makes a paper crane to remember September 11th.
4. Evan Biela, Lauren Mader, Jay Emord, Greg Caron, Chris Whitfield, Marisa Prisco, and Robert Poole enjoy their lunches.
5. Kara Silvia and Meg Jones stop on the slope to enjoy the scenery.
7. Jim Reynolds ponders the existence of mankind.
8. Before the semi-formal Curtis Davidson and Joanna Douillette smile for the camera.
10. Andy Maynard and Nick Silvia show off their artistic talent.
11. Taylor Thompson teaches his art class how to counterfeit money.
12. Theresa Masselli, Lynn Walsh, and Lauren Bechtel bring in the new year with style.
13. Woody Barra spends a free period tackling his homework.
As we embark on our journey into the “real world” we look back on the last twelve school years of our lives. From our view of the past years we have grown up together, helped each other, and have always been there for one another no matter how hard the obstacles of life have been. Since elementary school, our sense of style, music, and choice of television shows have changed. From little girls with a million Barbie dolls and all the accessories to match, we have grown into young women with huge dreams and aspirations. Little boys have grown from avid fans of Ninja Turtles, Batman, and Nintendo to intelligent and hardworking young men.

From our view we’ve all grown into mature young adults, but we can fondly look back to those younger years, when life was much simpler...
1. Adam Silva, Mark Battistini, Richie Florence, Andy Merriam, Chad Buczek and Gerry Conroy show off 1st grade style.
2. Nick Palmieri doesn’t willingly give his balloons to Jill Asack.
3. Liz Beshansky, Jen Haynes, Allyson Erbeck, Megan Cayer, Ashley Carson, Nicole Pincolin, Katie Sieger, Kate Larson, Sarah Diamond, Ana Moniz, and Rebecca Hunt shows off matching tie-dye shirts!
4. Ashleigh Pickett, Kara Silvia, Meg Connerty, Meg Jones, Carrie Simmons, Jess Fix, Amanda Thetoniaz, and Staci James spend a warm summer day at Riverside.
5. Girl Scout Troop #1225 gets ready to cut the cake.
6. Lauren Mader, Cathy Silva, Tom Sheehan, Dan Pickett, Justin Hauck, Jen Cote, Kate McKenney, and Ryan Gardiner show off their 1st grade project.
7. Nina Martelli and Keri Dufall flaunt their cutest smiles.
8. Kelly Tierney and Crystal Rosenfield prepare each other for a dance recital.
9. Colleen Welch and Jessie Fix nervously reassure each other that they are ready for kindergarten.
10. Kristen Andrus get ready to sting the “devilish” Billy Mills.
11. Mrs. Kelleher’s 1st grade class at Sullivan Elementary School.
13. Mrs. LaFlamme’s former second grade class shows off their “happy monster!”
As our senior year comes to an end, we remember our friends. Friends are people who carry us through high school. Friends are always there for us to help us through the rough times, and also to share the fun during the good times.

Bridgewater-Raynham helped us meet friends that we will have for the rest of our lives. From our view, the past four years have been an amazing journey and the best four years of our teenage lives.

Remember when we didn’t have lunch money? Who was there for us? OUR FRIENDS. Do you remember that rainy day when your car broke down on the way to school? Who was right there by your side giving you a hand? One of your friendly classmates.

Our friends always motivate us when they are playing the same sports. They are always shouting the loudest for us to push ourselves. We always have that one friend that we can call anytime we are stuck on our homework. We might get in trouble in class for always talking to our friends, but our teachers understand and can relate.
1. Sean Cronin, Adam Stevenson, John Carr, Jon Neil, Craig Murray, and Richie Florence enjoy watching the dancing from the sidelines.
2. Students in a phys-ed class get in touch with nature (Top: Kristyn Whittington, Laura Ford, Heather Whitty; Bottom: Liz Lucchetti, Meaghan Connerty, Lauren Maxwell, Ashley Slater, Nina Martelli)
3. Double Matts (Matt Furtado and Matt Day) stand on the dock by the USS J.F.K. on a beautiful day.
5. Rob Ferris, Jen Zolga, Katelyn Lopresti, Tricia Wholley and James Kelleher know how to relax!
6. Best friends, Christine Smith and Gail Maloney smile for the camera.
7. Staci James, Jen lamele, and Renee Gaudette enjoy lounging around.
10. Eric Almieda, Dan Pickett, Derek Sheehan, Mike Crotty, Billy Mills, Kyle Buckley, Tom Hennesey, Dan Buckley, and Eric Warner show Nick Orfanos some support during prom time.
11. Ashley Benvissete, Katherine Hathaway, and Abby Rovaldi ride to concerts in style!
As we glimpse back over these past years, even the insignificant events are now considered special moments that we will never forget. Whether it be an everyday lunch period, a boring study hall or a frequent trip to the mall, these are all things that were once unimportant and taken for granted. They are now events that we will fondly cherish and miss. These moments are the basis of the friendships that we have made over the years. Once we graduate and go our separate ways we will miss going crazy looking for that perfect dress for the semi-formal, bonding in the weight room, and all

1. Best friends, Amanda Clapp and Kristen Andruis share a hug at the 2001 Junior Prom.
2. Catherine Hathaway, Lauren Bechtel, and Joanna Douillette get ready for a PCC dance.
3. Friends wait before the semi-formal for their dates to arrive!
4. Kevin McAuliffe, Matt Cahill, and Marc Freitas dance up a storm!
5. A girls’ Raynham Community Soccer team shows off after a big win.
6. Best friends, Jill Asack, Michelle Almada, Kate Daniels, and Danica Copeland walk together into the sunset.
7. Craig Murray and Michelle Almada share a special moment at the prom.
8. Best friends Marisa Prisco and Mike Macleod Crotty get close at the Junior Prom.
9. Barrie Guarino and Jen Measor try to keep warm at the Superbowl game.
11. Erin Nelson, Meg Callan, Kristina Hanney, Nicole Pincolini and Jen lamele lay down for a picture.
12. Ready for PCC’s “50’s Dance” Shannon Smith, Lauren Bechtel, Kacie Lamontagne, Joanna Douillette, Andrea Paul, Ashley Carson and Katie Sypher huddle close.
13. Friends struggle to keep their human pyramid pointing toward the sky.
14. Laura McElroy, Sophia Barros, Kristen McDonough and Sarah Chapell jump at the chance for a picture during study period.
15. A group of seniors prove that the 80’s weren’t THAT bad!
We view high school as a stressful time in our lives. We have to deal with homework, quizzes, tests, and long term projects. However, we can’t forget the opportunities these responsibilities have afforded us. No matter how tough the classes were, we can always remember a time when we had fun. We struggled through Moby Dick with it’s impossible language, and confusing nautical terms, not to mention trying to keep our heads above water in chemistry class. Yet, we will never recall some memories of high school without letting a smirk escape. Relaxing in study periods with our friends in the library, and walking downtown in between finals are just a few of the many small, yet quite significant parts of high school which makes lasting memories. Let us view Bridgewater-Raynham’s academic education as a step in the right direction.
1. Mike Greely works on his designs in drafting.
3. A class lecture intrigues Tom Higginbotham.
4. Jon Carr listens attentively in history class.
5. Brian Praino and Sean Casey are about to find out, "How high will the bottle rocket fly?"
6. Mr. Kearney shows Kevin O'Brien his homeland.
7. Students listen eagerly as they await the next assignment.
8. Zoe Furtado records the temperature for her biology lab.
9. Patrick Herrington gets out his homework.
10. Joe Powers ponders the answer.
11. Carrie Simmons and Molly Lawton concentrate on their studies.
12. Tony Murdoch types away!
13. Matt Cushing and Paul Jenkins are bedazzled by condensation.
Sports are a very important part of B-R. They have not only provided us with records, titles and trophies, but these sports have also taught us important lessons in dedication, sportsmanship and teamwork. Whether we view sports by playing on the field, cheering on teammates from the sidelines, or showing support from the bleachers, many of us show our zealous school spirit. As time passes we will always remember those times of happiness, camaraderie, triumph, and hardship here at B-R. These experiences have been imprinted into our character, where we can take them on our journey into life after high school.
1. Kevin Sullivan shows his opponent who's boss.
2. The agile Rich Florence dashes toward the end zone.
3. Luther Smith explodes past the line.
4. Natalie Crimmons swings for the fences.
5. Ian Delahanty takes a powerful swing.
6. Laura Ford leaps skillfully into the sand.
7. Teammates Peter Mason, Tom Higginbotham, Matt Lyford, Ryan Post, Luther Smith, Will Morey, and Richie Florence celebrate after the victory against Taunton.
8. Carrie Simmons and Kristyn Whittington keep their heads in the game.
9. Anne Bruckman returns with a mean backhand.
11. Golf Captain Rob Ferris squints to watch his ball soar into the sky.
12. Cheerleading Captain Lauren Mader heads support for the B-R Trojans.
13. Ryan Post quenches his thirst during a hot September game.
14. U.D. Nwosa sets up the shot with his eye on the ball.

Our View
School isn’t only about studying and classes. Students and faculty love B-R so much that they give up an extra piece of their lives for extra-curricular activities. Students balance academics, jobs and a social life along with their optional high school activities. From the FIRST Robotics team, and Drama, to the Renaissance program, B-R is a busy place even while classes aren’t in session.

1. Laura Ford and Nina Martelli pose for a picture in the garden at Washington D.C.
2. Jon Neil and Craig Murray dance to “Y.M.C.A.” at a 16th birthday party.
3. Kate Roza styles Nicole Price’s hair for a B-R production.
4. (Back Row: Kate Daniels, Michelle Almada, Keri Dufaut, Molly Lawton, Jen Cote, Laureann Demoura, Rachel Ladd, Maura Kelley; Front Row: Cait White) Friends smile together at the 80’s dance.
5. Senior members of the girl’s soccer team, Carrie Simmons, Nina Martelli, Meg Connery, Monica Silva, Molly Lawton, Liz Luchetti and Laura Ford pile up for a comfortable photograph.
7. Stacy Kenn lets those creative juices flow in art class.
8. Michelle Almada and Danica Copeland watch Jon Carr hit the slopes.
Mr. Jeffrey Sylvia

Teacher: 1: one that teaches; especially one whose occupation is to instruct  2: one who assists in learning

At Bridgewater-Raynham, we have countless faculty members who fit this definition, but as students, that poorly reflects what we believe a teacher should be. To us, teachers are people who offers support, guidance and trust. They also spark a desire inside of us to strive to reach greater heights in learning. They mold us to be the true future of America. At B-R, we also have many teachers that fit our own definitions of what a teacher should be. And while we all may not agree on a concrete definition, we all agree that we would like to dedicate the 2002 Unitas: From Our View to Mr. Jeffrey Sylvia, because to us, the graduating class of 2002, Mr. Sylvia embodies everything that we want and need in a teacher.

As the Class Advisor to 2002, Mr. Sylvia has always played a major role in our high school careers, whether it be holding class elections, planning for the pep rally, organizing fund raisers, coordinating the prom or working extremely hard to provide us with new and memorable activities, such as the Senior Lock-In. The amount of time that Mr. Sylvia has put into our class is unbelievable. Going even further than just helping us on school time, Mr. Sylvia has also made many appearances at important events such as the Super Bowl and basketball games.

Mr. Sylvia’s “assistance in learning” has been known to extend outside of the classroom. Mr. Sylvia is the type of teacher that we knew we could trust. He was often seen helping various students with personal problems. He has made our high school years memorable and enjoyable as well as insightful and important. He will remain forever in our hearts and minds as someone that we could trust, laugh with, and most importantly, learn from. Thank you, Mr. Sylvia, for guiding us these past four years.

Mr. Emiliano Diaz

The members of the class of 2002 would also like to acknowledge Mr. Diaz. We would like to thank him for his continued support and dedication to teaching. We also would like to wish him a happy and relaxing retirement. Mr. Diaz has been teaching for 31 years. We would also like to wish the following teachers a happy retirement: Ms. Linda Dumas, Mr. Tom Nihan and Mr. Tony Roza.

Mr. John Lennon

Mr. Lennon has been an important figure to the seniors. We would like to thank him for all of his time and effort. It is difficult to find a sporting event where Mr. Lennon is not on the sidelines. He has always encouraged students to do their best. He also introduces his students to the world of theater and life outside sports. He is someone that we will surely never forget.
Faculty
Looking back on our years at B-R, we realize that teachers play a huge role in our high school careers. We have been faced with many different challenges, and the guidance of teachers has helped us through. 2001 brought back many veteran faces as well as introduced new ones. Teachers have encouraged us to pursue our dreams and helped us stay on the path to a bright future. Together, we view them as positive influences in our lives.

The skill of speaking a foreign language requires talented individuals to teach it. The foreign language teachers have left us with this skill that is necessary in our modern world.

And who can live without math? Where would we be if we knew nothing of our history? It was because our teachers that we can graduate ready to handle the world.

The sciences and theories that govern our world were taught to us in our science classes. The skills needed to simply write this down would be lost to us if it hadn’t been for our English teachers. Our elective courses taught us about life beyond the core subjects. We learned the art of cooking in culinary arts, the relationships of people in sociology, and we experienced the patience needed for children in Child Study.

As you can see our teachers have given us a wider view of life today and how to make our futures brighter. We will view them in a positive light through the course of our lives to come.

Seniors
The experiences we’ve had in our four years at B-R will never be forgotten. As freshman we were introduced to a whole new environment. We met new people, friends, and teachers. As sophomores we formed our close bonds with friends. As juniors we worked our hardest and prepared for college. And, finally, as seniors we can look back at what we’ve accomplished, and look forward to what we will achieve. Each year holds its own favorite memory, whether it be dances, football games, clubs, or classrooms with our favorite teachers. We’ll never forget our first days as freshman and our last days as seniors. Good uck, Class of 2002!

To all students, fellow graduates of 2002, faculty and staff:

When creating a yearbook, the goal is to capture as many memories as humanly possible. However, trying to condense 720 days of high school, hundreds of events and thousands of experiences into a 200 page yearbook is no easy task. Therefore, we changed our goal. Instead of providing you with all of your high school memories, we are offering a glimpse of how B-R will always be remembered in our minds. We attempted to depict what B-R was like; From Our View.

Looking back to the fall of 1998, it is hard to believe that it was only four years ago. The years have flown by so quickly, however, it's difficult to remember a time without these irreplaceable friends; a life without B-R.

Now, as we prepare to leave, we realize that we will always have B-R in our memories. We will always remember waking up before dawn to fight off the juniors in the parking lot and being one among the masses hurrying into school. We will never forget the day we mastered the art of weaving. No, not as in baskets, but as in the vital skill for being on time to class. We will never forget perfecting the seamless excuse to attend all four lunches in order to see your friends or successfully taking a half hour trip to the bathroom.

On a more serious note, we will never forget the life lessons. We have realized just how fragile life is, just how important friends are and just how necessary family can be. We have learned to forget about the insignificant problems and help find real solutions. We have learned that things are never as bad as they may appear. We have learned to put things into proper perspective. In short, we have begun to grow up.

And though we still have a long way to go, we owe our growth and maturity to the many people who have helped us along the way. We appreciate their support and guidance. If they could only see themselves from our view, then would they be able to fully realize what they have truly meant to us.

In closing, the past four years have had different experiences, different friends and different emotions for everyone, but they end result remains the same: we made it. And while we are all heading our separate ways to pursue our goals and achieve our dreams, we will always remember where we came from and just what B-R meant to us: From Our View.
Looking Back

As we look back on those simple times, it seems sad that we are growing up. We were the generation of the Strawberry Short Cake Dolls, Cabbage Patch Kids, and Nerf footballs. The biggest worry of our day was who to play with. In those days our heroes were the cartoon characters that we watched on Saturday mornings. Every little girl wanted to be a princess, and all the boys wanted to be warriors. We never had to worry about going too far, because the only people we knew were our neighbors and family.

We can all see Craig Murray’s having a blast with a glad trash bag box.

Little Jennifer Cote stares off, wondering why her cake is still not lit.

Andrew Merriam is caught red handed on camera, and he smiles for forgiveness.

The chilly Anne Bruckman shivers after her long day in the pool.

The mischievous Meg Connery is caught with a shocked stare.

Baby Pictures
When we were young our toyboxes were always filled to the top. There were Raggedy-Anne dolls, Transformers, Barbie dolls, Matchbox Cars and more! From playing war with G.I. Joe’s to playing house with baby dolls, there were plenty of fun things to do. Along with all these toys, there was always a favorite first toy; a blankie, a soft teddy bear, or even a Tonka truck. These were times to remember and will live on forever.

Lynn Walsh dresses up in her father’s fire hat.

Liz Beshanskey is all geared up for Halloween.

Nick Palmieri shows off his pearly white teeth before his first day of preschool.

Alyson Wright looks a little overwhelmed as she finally rips the last piece of wrapping paper from her gift.
Good Times

Our childhoods are filled with special memories. Christmas was a magical time because Santa brought us toys if we were good little boys and girls. Birthdays consisted of Pin-the-Tail-on-the-Donkey and digging our hands into the cake. On Easter we scaled the house, hunting for hidden Easter eggs. Who could forget the first days of school carrying our Ninja Turtle lunch boxes and apples for the teacher? Remember Halloween when we dressed up as ghosts and clowns? These are memories that will live forever in our minds and hearts.

Even at a young age, Todd Derbyshire still loved listening to rock’n’roll.

Kelly Tierney is all ready for her cat walk.

Like always, Tory Furtado finds comfort under the spotlight.

Jennifer Zolga throws a gift aside, because she just wants the bow!

Ana Moniz shows true fear as she grips on for dear life.
Remembering 9-11

September 11, 2001 started off like any other Tuesday here at the Regional. As the first lunch bell rang, the halls were crowded and filled with uncertainty. Confusion arose by rumors too terrible to be true. Had terrorists really hit the World Trade Center? About ten minutes into lunch our rumors were confirmed. Our Headmaster, Mr. Heaslip, stepped up to the microphone. His voice trembled as he announced that two hijacked planes had crashed into the twin towers. As lunch ended, students frantically headed towards classrooms with televisions. Many students came just in time to see the horrific collapse of the first tower. Faces dropped in disbelief as we witnessed an unfathomable attack on US soil... live on our television screens.

As a result of these horrific crimes against humanity, Bridgewater-Raynham has unified like never before. All students and staff, regardless of race, religion, gender or age came together on Friday, September 14 in our gymnasium to participate in a National Day of Mourning. The President asked for a three minute moment of silence around noon time in remembrance of the victims. Most in attendance felt our response reflected the nation’s strength in this trying time.

The assembly began with our band playing selected patriotic songs. Senior class president, Molly Lawton, was the Master of Ceremonies and lead us in the Pledge of Allegiance. The other senior class officers, along with Mr. Heaslip, Mr Peabody, and Mr. Buron also spoke during the ceremony. It was amazing how the immense class came together for a three minute moment of silence by order of the President and in honor of the brave men and women who gave their lives for others.

This beautiful tribute was just what our school and the country needed to return to normalcy. By celebrating heroes and honoring the memory of the victims, Bridgewater-Raynham has taken its initial strides in reconciling with the loss and the devastation these terrorists have caused.

1. Underclassmen sell Remembrance Pins to fellow students, raising money for the 9-11 cause.
2. The entire school gathers in hopes that their unanswered questions will be resolved.
3. B-R’s “Tower of Freedom”, created by the Art Club, depicts freedom in the eyes of our artistic students.
4. A mural made by a student, posted on a classroom wall.
5. Mr. Heaslip addresses the concerns of the student body.

Pep Rally
The classes of B-R join together every year before the Thanksgiving Day football game. This year’s Pep Rally was bigger and louder than ever before. Signs covered every inch of the gym, wall to wall and even the basketball hoops. The color guard and band put on a great show, as well as a special performance from the cheerleaders and football players. This year was also special because of the added bonus of having Chronicle there to capture every moment. The support of the entire school helped lift the football team to a big win on Thanksgiving against Silver Lake.

Underclassmen
B-R would be nothing without its underclassmen. They will soon have their day to shine and lead the school to bigger and better things. As freshman, we entered with a sense of awe. We worried about making it to classes on time, and more importantly, actually finding all of our classes. After the initial adjustments, we made new friends and quickly settled into our new lifestyles as high school students. As sophomores, we were forced to think about our futures with such obstacles as PSAT’s and MCAS. Junior year began with a flash of reality: SAT’s. Suddenly, a common question became, “So what do you want to do with the rest of your life?” It proved to be a question that none of us were ready to answer. However, junior year also gave us some of the best memories such as the prom, licenses and parties. Our only advice to our underclassmen is this: Enjoy B-R because it is a short four years.

1. Ryan Homer gives a thumbs up and a big smile, showing us that dental hygiene is a must.
2. The cafeteria is a great spot for socializing: Shawna Scanlon, Caroline Mailloux, Christina Riccardi and Vanessa Carney grab a bite to eat.
3. Ricky Sperrazza listens to some tunes as he leaves school at the end of the day.
4. Eric Linehan and Scott Byam show off their football pride.
5. Ms. Murphy works with Kim Weeks on painting.
6. Five freshman enjoy their first semi formal.
7. Dan Stone takes a music break while at lunch.
9. Mike Zella and Dennis Sharpe feel better after getting rid of some energy in gym class.

3. Meg Cayer, Meg Jones, Tricia Wholley and Annie Bruckman pose for a picture in front of the ski club bus.

4. Lasheena Barbosa shows off her new snowboard.

5. Jamie Clark and Ashley Johnston make their way up to the lodge at Waterville Valley.

6. The ski club stops for a group picture in front of Cannon Mountain.

7. Matt Shaw, Johanna Doulette and Curtis Davidson take a break halfway down the trail.
Extracurriculars
The clubs and activities at B-R are purely elective, and in that spirit, provide students the opportunities beyond the classroom. The scientists and engineers of the future can be seen today in TJ2 and Science Olympiad. Tomorrow’s professional musicians hone their skills in our tremendous band and chorus programs. Those inclined to debate and policy can be found in Modern World Affairs Club or the Mock Trial Group. Whatever the niche, B-R has provided us the activity. From Ski Club and Future Teachers of America to Drama and Foreign Language, it has been these extra curriculars that have helped define us better as unique individuals.

1. Danica Copeland and Michelle Almada keep themselves warm on the slopes.
2. The TJ2 team prepares for their competition.

10. Omar Zeid is jamming out on the guitar one of his many musical talents.
11. The horn section does their part.
To be a member of the B-R Color Guard Squad, you must have dedication. This year we have seen spectacular shows put on by the Color Guard that they practiced over and over to perfect. They practice continuously throughout the season to entertain the fans on game day. These students bring school spirit and talent to B-R.

1. The color guard squad swings into action during half-time.
2. The squad shows off synchronized kicks.
3. Andrea Thompson and Krista Smith lead the squad in perfect unison.
4. Lizzie Burt holds her flag high.
5. Andrea Thompson focuses hard on her performance.
At Bridgewater-Raynham's weight room all are welcome. The dedicated Mr. Lennon helps young men and women help themselves, while having a good time in the process. From outside the entrance, the weight room is a place of blasting classic rock tunes, clanging weights and hearty laughs, but inside lies much more. Inside one can see the fruits of hard work, dedication and perseverance. Students work to improve their strength, agility, muscle tone, and stamina. Those more experienced students further their knowledge to underclassmen, showing exercise technique and form. The weight room is a place of serious hard work, memories, laughs and friendships.

1. Dillon McGovern dead-lifts on the platform.
2. Senior, Lou D'Amarino keeps an eye out for Danny Lopes during his set of squats.
3. Chris Begley finishes up a set of lat-pulldowns.
4. Mr. Lennon bench-presses a full set of 315 lbs. as Dillon McGovern keeps an eye out.
5. Nick Bulgaris pumps out some dumbbell pressles.
6. Matt Munise stays at Mr. Lennon's weightroom you have to have fun!
7. Dean Gasconi squats confidently with perfect form as Collin Florence gives a spot.
The 2001-2002 Science Olympiad season was led by advisor Mrs. Patricia Anania, President Kathy Hill, Secretary John Reckord, and Treasurer Mike Greely, the team has had an eventful year. With a growing number of new members, they have made friends and enjoyed the team spirit, which allowed them to win many medals.

Their first fundraiser, a bake sale at parent/teacher conference was a big success. The Bowl-a-Thon was an even bigger success. Every year, the team looks forward to the state competition at Framingham State College.

1. The Science Olympiad team: (Front Row: Jon O'Brien, Laura Guilfoy, John Reckord, Kathy Hill, Mike Spagone, and Steve Praino; Center Row: Jeff Mallet, Brian Praino, Staisy Kibard, Jill Peterson, Diana Smith, and Jess Donovan; Back Row: Mrs. Anania, Danika Erikson, Mike Pistone, Jamie Johnston, and Alex Shea).

2. Mike Greely and Mike Spagone compete with their Boomilever.
3. John Reckord also enjoys the Boomilever competition.
4. Jeff Mallett shows off his juggling skills at the SO Bowl-a-Thon.
5. Mrs. Anania happily watches on as her members prepare for the meet.
6. Eric Reese, Brian Praino, and Jeff Pentz make final calculations as Liz Beshansky looks on.
7. Brian Praino makes one last check before the competition.
8. Captain Kathy Hill tries to inspire her team members with her happy mood.
9. Freshmen Diana Smith and Brendon Cunha bring home the gold in their competition.
In our seventh year of team TJ2 (Trojans Johnson & Johnson), B-R students, under the direction of Mrs. Calef and seven other outstanding teachers, collaborated with team alumni, parents and engineers from a Johnson & Johnson Company in the nationwide FIRST (For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology) program to build an annual robot and compete. The team prepares all year for the competitions, whether it be by tie-dying shirts with Mr. Phanuef, writing the bimonthly newsletter, making our Chairman’s Award submission, updating our web page, making a 3-D computer animation, managing administrative functions with Mr. Folan, or constructing the robot with Mr. Morrison. This year, 50 students have taken part in the team and from their dedication, we had an outstanding machine and even better, a great time.
1. Showing a variety of tie dye outfits, Mr. Phaneuf hollers chants.
2. The TJ2 team poses for a picture.
3. In Epcot the TJ2 robot tries to accomplish its task.
4. Mrs. Hall, Andrew Carson, and Mrs. Calef cheer on the team.
5. TJ2 shows support in the stands.
6. The banner is displayed in true spirit.
7. The machine constructed by TJ2.
8. Andrew Carson and Todd Derbyshire pose for a photo.
9. Technicians for Johnson and Johnson pose for a picture.
In Bridgewater Raynham’s tradition of spring musicals, “Damn Yankees” has been brought to our stage. The play starts off with an upsetting loss by middle aged Joe Boyd’s (Erik Edson), favorite team, the Washington Senators. In a moment of weakness while sitting on his front porch, the devil, known as Mr. Applegate (C.J. Pennington), offers him the chance to save his team in exchange for his soul. After singing “Goodbye Old Girl” to his wife (Catherine Hathaway), Joe Boyd transforms into the young baseball star, Joe Hardy (John Dooley).

With help from his coach (Matt Furtado) and his fumbling teammates (Nathan Conrad, Mark LaFrance and Jesse Witcher), the team is pulled out of its losing streak. As the team begins to win, Applegates ploy to steal Joe’s soul is aided by his seductive homewrecker, Lola (Emily Goodreau). All is going well until accusations are made against Joe by Gloria Thorpe (Jess Phaneuf), a nosey sports reporter, threaten to ruin their shot at being heroes.

1. The exhausted cast of “Damn Yankees” relaxes after rehearsal.
2. Jess Phaneuf is surrounded by fans during “shoeless Joe from Hannibal Mo.”
3. Kate Roza and Nicole Price calmly rehearse lines with each other.
4. Joe Cannon really gives us something to think about.

Transfering pen and paper to the digital screen, creating a scholastic yearbook or newspaper in the year 2002 was an enriching and enjoyable process. Somehow, deadlines were reached despite the occasional hiccups of missed deadlines, crashed computers and unreadable disks. The school publications came through to provide a means to remember all the activities, athletics, academics, and moments of B-R. In addition to this, publications kept us all up to date on the latest events at the Regional with our weekly calendar and school newspaper. Our hard-working students captured and put to use the skills necessary to make these things possible, from yearbook editors Lauren Mader, Dan Pickett, Marisa Prisco, and Eric Warner and their faithful staff, to weekly calendar correspondents Christine Canzano and Stacey Stankiewicz. Also, our newspaper editor Rob Ferris worked with his staff, which was headed by John Dooley, Matt Roland and Nathan Conrad and other writers to produce the Regional Sound.

After it all, the 2002 B-R publications were a success with the invaluable guidance of teacher and advisor Ms. Diane McGuire. Thanks to the hard-work of the team, the memories of B-R will be immortalized in this book.
1. Rob Ferris looks on as Matt Roland and John Dooley plug away at the B-R Newspaper.
2. Tricia Wholley and Marisa Prisco laugh at senior messages.
3. Dan Pickett, Marisa Prisco, Eric Warner and Lauren Mader work together to get things done!
4. Nina Martelli enjoys working on the yearbook a little more than Rory Modica.
5. John Dooley, Nathan Conrad and Rob Ferris brainstorm some ideas for possible articles.
6. Marisa Prisco’s words are on the tip of her tongue, but Lauren Mader doesn’t know what she’s talking about!
7. Ms McGuire and Matt Roland concentrate on making the deadline.
8. Left to right: Leigh Delehanty, Caitlyn Jahnke, Kate Roza, Bryan Sharland, Matt Kellogg, Meredith Kellogg, Tim Tilbe, Mark Lyman, Adam Smith.
